Empower

MANY ASPIRE, FEW ATTAIN

"Enter through the narrow gate. For wide is the gate and broad is the road that leads to destruction, and many enter through it. But small is the gate and narrow the road that leads to life, and only a few find it."
Matthew 7:13-14

Jesus invites all to lay down their lives, pick up their cross, and follow Him. Sadly, experience shows that while His invitation is broad, only a few finish well.

Paul had the end in mind when he wrote in 2 Timothy 4:7-8 -- I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. Now there is in store for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will award to me on that day—and not only to me, but also to all who have longed for his appearing.

David sought this principle by aiming to keep the main thing the main thing, as reflected in Psalm 27:4 -- One thing I ask from the Lord, this only do I seek: that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to gaze on the beauty of the Lord and to seek him in his temple.

Ezra similarly grasped this principle in Ezra 7:10 -- For Ezra had set his heart to study the law of The Lord, and to do it and to teach his statues and rules in Israel. He sought to know God first for himself, and only then to teach it to others.

In 1975, Walt Henrichsen wrote a timeless article called "Many Aspire, Few Attain." Spend time reading through the article and consider the questions below:

Discussion Questions

- What impacted you most from the article?
- Is there one or two of the points that you find yourself most susceptible to? What will you do about that?
- Who will you invite to be in the inside of your life and journey with you?
- What is one application you will make as a result of reading this article?

This journal was made by the University of Arizona Navigators staff in 2020, with the latest update in 2025, and is meant to be shared. Please do not reproduce for profit.

For reproduction, corrections, suggestions for improvement, or to request a digital copy please email Ryan Mullarkey at ryan.mullarkey@navigators.org