

TYRANNY OF THE URGENT

How we use our time reveals our true priorities and what we believe about God. We may say that we prioritize God, His Word and His people, but do our actions show that? Spend time either together or own your own reading through the article Tyranny of the Urgent by Charles E. Hummel (link below). Stop after every few sections to discuss your observations and thoughts, then answer the questions below.

Questions for Reflection and Evaluation:

1. What things are important in your life? What things are urgent? Take time to write down areas of your life that you would categorize as either urgent or important.
2. Begin with your “big rocks” first. What important areas of life are you not making time for? How can you add those as first priority into your life?
3. What things in your life are un-urgent, unimportant, and are sucking away time from the important? What limitations or boundaries would be helpful to establish in these areas (consider areas such as media and phone use, video games, etc)?
4. An old Navigator once said “Not every bag that comes through baggage claim has your name on it.” What are some bags that you’ve picked up that God hasn’t asked you to pick up?
5. What things are you avoiding that would serve you by having on your weekly calendar? (James 4:17)
6. Create a schedule for the next week based on your priorities. Keep a time log to see how you actually spent your time and compare it to the schedule. What went well? What didn't go well? Are there adjustments that need to be made for the next week?

THIS TOOL IS MEANT TO BE SHARED. Adapted from Tyranny of the Urget by Charles Hummel.

This journal was made by the University of Arizona Navigators staff in 2020, with the latest update in 2025, and is meant to be shared. Please do not reproduce for profit.

For reproduction, corrections, suggestions for improvement, or to request a digital copy please email Ryan Mullarkey at ryan.mullarkey@navigators.org